Disclaimer: It is the goal of the Dominican University of California Archives to serve as a research tool that is open and available to the public. As an institution established well over a century ago, there are materials throughout our collection that are no longer acceptable and not a reflection to the University’s mission of social justice, dismantling racism, and promoting diversity.

This Book is brought to you for free and open access by the Dominican University of California Yearbooks at Dominican Scholar. It has been accepted for inclusion in Yearbooks 1990 - 1999 by an authorized administrator of Dominican Scholar. For more information, please contact michael.pujals@dominican.edu.
I am especially encouraged by the atmosphere of high achievement and high spirits so evident in 1991-1992. Once again this year, the campus community has shared a feeling of being on the way up.

Many tangible factors combine to create this intangible feeling of energy and high hope. Our increased enrollment, the expanding Honors Program, the proliferation of student clubs, and the heightened interest in our athletic program, are just a few of these.

I want to commend each of you for your hard work and enthusiasm in 1991-1992. I do hope you will find your work and spirit reflected in the pages of this yearbook.

Sincerely,

Joseph R. Fink

This 1991-1992 edition of the yearbook is dedicated to two of Dominican's faculty: Dr. Sherry Volk and Dr. Robert Shukraft. These two wonderful, committed, loyal individuals have been contributing their time, teaching abilities, and effort as long as anyone can remember.

Dr. Robert Shukraft, is a professor of Psychology and Counseling Psychology. Maria McKinney, Director of Student Activities, commented, "Bob Schukraft inspires reason, open-mindedness and compassion in his students and all who know him."

Sherry Volk is another person to whom this year's edition is dedicated to. Before coming here, she received her B.A. at San Francisco State, her Ph.D. at Oregon State, and her post-doctorate at U.C. Davis. She also taught at San Francisco State for a year, which she said was a different experience due to the size of the university. Since coming to Dominican College in the summer of 1970, she has been a member of the Biology Dept., Associate Dean of Academic Affairs, Director of Pathways, and academic adviser for biology and liberal studies. But she is mainly responsible for the administration. She definitely enjoys what she has been doing. Sherry says, "teaching is my love and Dominican is a wonderful place to work."
Faculty, Staff and Maintenance

The backbone of Dominican College is its wonderful staff.

"A teacher affects eternity, he can never tell where his influence stops."
-Henry Brock Adams

The Dominican College Staff and Maintenance can be likened to a clock. One sees the face and hands "tick-ing", but who knows how many essential parts work to keep things moving behind it all. AMAZING!
Convocation was a day well spent in the Angelico Auditorium. Two speakers came to our campus to discuss specific issues on education. There was quite a good audience turnout which was impressive. After the speakers had their chance to describe their viewpoints, the attentive audience agreed that the event was worth the time and effort of those who planned it.
What is this special event? For those who might not already know what this day is about, Shield Day is a tradition here at Dominican College, in which the graduating class gives a shield having some meaning to the entering Freshman class. This year's event, which was held in Angelico Hall, was a success. During the ceremony, each class was reminded of their shields by the class representatives and sang their class songs, which described their characters. Overall, it was a nice way to come together and share the moment.

This year's Boat Dance was one people will never forget. Everyone at the dance can recall the excitement of the night. Although the boat did not reach its maximum capacity, the dance floor was packed and the decks were crowded with people looking out on the bay. Not only was the music good, but the food served was also just as great. The people at the 1991 Boat Dance will surely label this event one of the most memorable nights to remember.

Fanjeaux

Beautiful ivy surrounds this French residence hall.

Recycling is a regular practice at Dominican College.
Dorm life in Fanjeaux is never quiet. Chances are at any given time, there is something going on either on the Second Floor, Third Floor, or just anywhere where you find "Fanjeauxnians." There are eighty students who reside in this dorm. A popular feature is that it is right across from the courtyard and close to another dorm, Pennafort. Don't be surprised if you see unidentifiable objects flying across the courtyard. In the dorm where the ivy grows wild, so do the students. But it is that craziness that adds character to Fanjeaux.
Meadowlands

In Meadowlands Assembly Hall, nursing students practice administering care... and sometimes receive it.

Angels grace the entrance of this residence hall.
"It's quiet, cozy, convenient, and it feels like a family," said resident Lilith Iversen. What is she talking about? The answer is in those she dorms with daily in a house she calls a home, Meadowlands.

Meadowlands, while housing only fifty students, is popular among its residents and others for this reason. Built as a summer home in 1800's for one of the West Coast's most affluent families, the de Youngs, Meadowlands is known for its beautiful redwood interior, its sunny and spacious porch, and its comfortable wicker room. But Meadowlands isn't a showpiece; instead it is a "home" for fifty students while they're away from their families.
Pennafort

At the fireside in Pennafort, people get together to talk about serious topics, and sometimes zany ones.

Just in front of Pennafort is a lawn that's ever so popular during a sunny afternoon.
Outsiders may refer to it as that modern-looking structure up on the hill. Insiders know it as that noisy, smelly, 60's style, ski lodge/mental institution. Pennafort houses 120 of Dominican's finest, brightest, and most mentally deranged students. This year's events were varied; some were good, some were bad, some were outrageous, and some were scandalous. Late October brought an interesting mud outing in front of both Fanjeaux and Pennafort. Other past-times include: water fights, stealing beds, and scaring the pants off people in the middle of the night. As always, Pennafort seems to have attracted plenty of deserved attention.
Residence Hall

The Residence Hall Councils play an important role in student resident life. The three councils, Pennafort, Fanjeaux, and Meadowlands, express student complaints and concerns, acting as a liaison between the housing office and students. They also plan study breaks and other social activities for the resident students. Students either volunteer to be on the Council or they are nominated by those living in their dorm. The Councils try to make life a little better in the dorms.

It's okay Mara. No trouble in the hall...we just want a picture.

Your 1992 Hall Council here to serve you.
Council
'The little team that tried', is a quote that best describes the 1991 Dominican College Volleyball Team. And tried they did. The team struggled with different levels of playing background, the lack of pre-season preparation, as well as the struggle to form an effective and unified group of players from a group of strangers. The team's members included: Stephanie So, Kathleen Farley, Diana Johnson, Tiffany Pekkoff, Rosemarie Alston, Annette Li, Lilith Iversen, Janie Mandae, Barbara Newman, Heather Conner, and Marci Daniel. Although much of the time the team seemed disadvantaged, the ladies managed to get a greater part of the D.C. community in the spirit of the game as spectators: 'It was a developmental year', coach Sheila Somers said, and this was true. The team is ready to work hard next year. Keep an eye out for them!

Men's Basketball

Although this year's men's basketball team showed determination and perseverance, the schedule proved to be the toughest opponent. Their 4-20 record is a bit misleading, not taking into account the many almosts and "coulda beens" they encountered during the season. Led by top scorers Roniel Powell, Sean Harmon, and captains Jeff Colley and Scott Thomas, the Penguins duplicated their record of the previous year. The team was supported by an increased fan base this year in part due to the efforts of the new athletic director, Bill Fusco. Next year's team looks even more promising, thanks to increased efforts by the Athletic Department in the recruiting area.

Women's Basketball

The 1991 Women's Basketball Team was an enthusiastic one this year. Although the team was mostly made up of new talent, the players showed great potential for the years to come. With the help of a former D.C. women's basketball team member, Julie Porter, the team stuck together through the season.

Men's Tennis

Out on the courts, the Men's Tennis Team was hard at work. Five Days a week, the tennis team members dedicated two hours or more per day of their time to build a strong Dominican Men's Tennis Team. Not only did the team work on their serves but the warm weather enabled them to work on their tans. Spring is one of the more popular seasons and there's quite no other time like it to play a game of tennis. You can tell by these pictures, that the team was hard at work.

Women's Tennis

Did you visit Forest Meadows this Spring? If you did not, you missed the Dominican College Women's Tennis Team hard at work practicing their serves, volleys, and backhands—not to mention having a good time. The team consisted mostly of first time D.C. Women's Tennis players but this did not seem to discourage the team. They played a good season in spite of this fact and are getting ready for the next season. Take a look for yourself.

Nice Laura, real nice.

One of the more interesting activities for students at Dominican is the karate lessons taught by first degree black belt Katie Field. Katie is a certified instructor in Kyokushin Kai, which means 'the true high way', and has been teaching for the past three semesters at Dominican. Before that, she taught in her hometown of South Bend, Indiana. Kyokushin involves 'exercising the body, spirit, and the mind'.

No other activity gets your heart pumping like a good aerobic workout. Every part of your body feels the pain but as they say, 'No Pain, No Gain'. The aerobic instructor who gives lessons in the longroom in Fanjeaux is guaranteed to make you wish you were in your bed with the covers over your head.

The pool is a place where one can be found working on a tan or working on their body. It provides a social atmosphere where one can relax and swim a few laps to get student relief from a stressful week.
Weigh Room

The weight room is a place where one can work on their upper body, or any part of one's anatomy for that matter. It provides recreational time as well as social time. Working on the Stairmaster until you face looks sunburned can also give the student a chance to work on something other than an assignment or paper.

La Bamba

Twice a year, in October and in March, the Campus Ministry travels to Tijuana, Mexico, to donate usable clothing, blankets, household goods, and bulk food to what is known as La Bamba. La Bamba means 'the children' and has been sponsored by the Campus Ministry for the past five years. Each semester a group of about ten students travel to Tijuana, where they spend three nights doing charity work such as painting houses, visiting an orphanage and a jail, and working in a soup kitchen known as Casa de los Pobres, or House of the Poor.

David Rivera, who went in October 1991, described the experience as a culture shock that overwhelmed me at first, but I gradually got used to it. It really helped to open my eyes to the extreme poverty in other cultures.

"Oh Boy", a musical comedy written by Guy Bolton and P.G. Wodehouse in 1917, was put on by the Dominican College Dept. of Music last November.

The play begins with a couple George Budd, played by Chaz Simonds, and Lou Ellen Carter, played by Beatriz Kustin, who are secretly married. The couple's marriage becomes interrupted when Jacky Sampson, played by Hedi Belanger, gets mixed up with Jim Marvin, who is played by Dan Justin, and Budd. Some of the comedy is provided by Constable Simms, who spends the whole play looking for Jacky, who has hit him in the eye in an attempt to get away from him.

The cast of the play seemed very enthusiastic about the musical.

"I was rather impressed with the camaraderie of the cast, just the way that it clicked together. It made the play a success," commented Cory Picton, a freshman who played Briggs, Budd's personal valet.
ASDC EXECUTIVES

THE
Associated Students of Dominican College (ASDC) consists of an Executive Board and senators who are also known as class representatives. The Executive Board and senators are elected each April by their constituencies. They deal with issues affecting the student body while also planning activities. Some of these activities include Homecoming Week, Senior Exclusive, and the Suitcase Dance. There are also committees consisting of ASDC members and students: publicity, community service, fundraising, and security, safety, and accessibility. These committees carry out various projects during the year.

Dominican Newspaper Staff
1992 Editors: Hannah Joy Fernandez and Carolyn Dettman

1992 Yearbook staff: Tina Herrera, Andrew Ottersness, Stephanie Curry, Rhona O'Flynn, Barbara Newman, David Ravera, Annette Li, Heidi Wolff, and Ben Stricker.

Our heartfelt thanks to Mr. Jules Becker, our yearbook advisor.

The 1991-1992 Yearbook staff has worked many, many hours on design, photography, copy, and sales in order to provide Dominican College students with a colorful and accurate description of the events and activities of the 1991-1992 school year on campus.

To the staff: Thank you for your efforts in putting this yearbook together. I admit it was difficult figuring out what goes where and how to get it there. For all our trials, we finally succeeded, and our efforts are evidenced within these pages. It couldn't be done without all your hard work and dedication in utilizing most of your free time in making this yearbook. For all your help, I thank you.

To the readers of this here yearbook: I hope this book accurately reflects the days of your life at Dominican College.

Special thanks to Mr. Becker and Mr. Pajratii whose wisdom was well received.

And extra special thanks to Paul, Lisa and Menchie. You guys helped me out when no one was around, and tolerated me when the going got rough. All my love...

Hannah Joy

Thanks to the photography staff for your time, effort and help. It's greatly appreciated. I had a great time working with all of you even when things got a little tough. It's been worth all our hard work!

Thanks!

Carolyn

P.S. Extra special thanks to Andrew and his weekends.
CONGRATULATIONS GRADS
Graduates

The time which every Senior looks forward to has finally arrived. Graduation. It is a time of great exhilaration but also a time of sadness. Each individual receiving a diploma has reached an important milestone in his or her life. The smiles on those graduates faces tell us that it is an achievement hard earned and greatly appreciated.
