

2017

Compassion

Jessica Curlett
Dominican University of California

Survey: Let us know how this paper benefits you.

Recommended Citation

Curlett, Jessica (2017) "Compassion," The Tuxedo Archives: Vol. 2011 , Article 3.
Available at: <https://scholar.dominican.edu/tuxedolit/vol2011/iss1/3>

This Poetry is brought to you for free and open access by the School of Liberal Arts and Education at Dominican Scholar. It has been accepted for inclusion in The Tuxedo Archives by an authorized editor of Dominican Scholar. For more information, please contact michael.pujals@dominican.edu.

COMPASSION

Jessica Curlett

Because I'm a nice person

It's what I do,

but you,

look at this as boring

or unrewarding

and turn your back faster

than I can think to be forward.

To be forward with you is pointless;

I've lost interest.

I say what I feel

and leave it out there for the world to take as they wish.

And one day you'll turn around

'cause that back has gotten colder,

and you are older,

and for a second you could feel it again.

But she's already forward;

and although she'll never

turn her back on you,

she's see-through.

Ready and willing to help the boring masses

that may need her.
Because they see her.
And when your heart and back unfreeze
and you turn around
to catch someone falling
not just for your own needs,
she will be there
because she's a nice person.