

2017

If...

Jason C. Davis
Dominican University of California

Survey: Let us know how this paper benefits you.

Recommended Citation

Davis, Jason C. (2017) "If...," The Tuxedo Archives: Vol. 2012 , Article 8.
Available at: <https://scholar.dominican.edu/tuxedolit/vol2012/iss2/8>

This Poetry is brought to you for free and open access by the School of Liberal Arts and Education at Dominican Scholar. It has been accepted for inclusion in The Tuxedo Archives by an authorized editor of Dominican Scholar. For more information, please contact michael.pujals@dominican.edu.

If...

Jason C Davis

If ever a word required dots trailing behind,
like bread crumbs from lost tentative hands.

If ever a word sat precariously on a wall,
likely to fall, but to which side the question.

If ever a word mumbled, or spat, or spun,
like rippled gold flowing from a timid loom.

If ever a word forged doubt with only two letters,
like two small hands pulling steel wed to stone.

If ever a word hesitated beside the pool, likely speculation could transform beast to prince.

Every story wavers between this or that,
teetering upon the precipice of a child's imagination,
caught between two cautious letters,
In conditional fantasy,
uncertain outcome,
contingent upon