Steel Ties do Bind

Misa Rasmussen

Steel ties do bind
My concrete feet.
Cemented to stories
Often rehearsed.
Reversed.

Disassociated from reality
Thick fog
Masking truth
cannot yet see.
Will not see.
Unable to face
the fear of inside.

Ingrained thoughts
Self loathing tendencies
Taught to the innocent
Promoted by inept
Tread lightly my friend
An overused road must eventually Learn to deviate.
hold on too tight
Might crush the dream
Fragile like a pair of wings
it's fleeting
Keep the good
Sort out the bad
Trade the worn
for the new Always fresh it seems.
Revert
Trust instincts set aside
To accommodate pride.

Be faithful to the course at hand
